

My area is served by a translator for Air1 Radio out of California. Air1 radio is an alternative Christian music station with a positive message which is rare in this day and age. When 90% of the music stars of traditional rock/pop music are exposing young people to sex, violence and drugs it is refreshing for young people to have rock stars that are positive role models. Air1 is in danger of being shutdown by the expansion of Low Power FM. The expansion of Low Power FM could take many of the translators that Air1 uses around the county to reach out with it's positive message. My children listen to this station and I don't have to worry about language or ideas that I don't want to hear about. This station is the only of it's type in my area and my community would lose a valuable radio signal if it were shutdown. Please don't shutdown my favorite radio station and stop the work it is doing in my community.
